

St. Anne Parent Association Facebook Group

FAQ and Guidelines

Who can access the St. Anne Facebook Group?

Only St. Anne parents (who have been approved by an administrator) can join the group and view its content. Each individual is responsible for the content they post and must not share private information about students or families. Parent Association Boardmembers will periodically review postings to ensure its content is appropriate.

Please be mindful of what you share in terms of protecting your and other families' privacy and be sure it is relevant to our whole community. No business solicitations or advertising please.

Who can view posts on the Facebook group?

Only parents who have joined the group will be able to view the PA Facebook group.

Who can post on the Facebook group?

Only parents who have joined the group may post content on the PA Facebook group. Again, please be sure the information is relevant to our whole community. Class specific information should be shared via email or other means with those parents.

What types of information will I be able to find on the Facebook group?

This will depend on how much information people decide to post on the group page. We envision that parents, staff and coaches can all post information to the page for upcoming events and activities, or to recognize a group or individual achievement. Parents who are coordinating an activity for the school will be responsible for adding that information to the Facebook page, if they feel it's appropriate. Please remember that the purple packet and communication from your student's teacher remains the first line of communication to parents.

Will teachers post information on the Facebook Group?

Teachers will not post class-specific information on the Facebook group page. However, a teacher who has an additional role as coach, parent, or is coordinating a schoolwide activity may post information on the page in connection with their other roles. Again, the purple packet is our first line of communication, the Facebook page is intended only as a supplement.

Can St. Anne students post on the PA Facebook Group?

While any St. Anne parents can join, we do not think it's appropriate for students to be posting information in this group. The group is intended for parents to share information about upcoming events and activities.

Can I post photos to the PA Facebook Group?

Yes, only approved members will see the content of the PA Facebook Group, however please be mindful of other families' privacy when you consider posting photos.
